Debunking the myth that all criticism of Israel is a form of anti-Semitism

Dear President Biden,

There is a time for everything – a time for retiring after a mishap and a time for retiring as a winner. You can still become a winner. All you have to do is make sure Vice President Harris defeats Trump.

What is at stake here is not politics as usual, but myth against reality. With Mr. Trump, politics as usual, that is to say what pertains to the classical issues of immigration, economy, inflation, abortion and so on and so forth has become secondary. He lives in a mythical world where fiction replaces reality. Here lies the secret for his success. But this can also backfire and precipitate his downfall.

In order to win the election Mrs. Harris must neutralize two bullies, Netanyahu and Trump. In your battle with Netanyahu, he kept ignoring you and doing what he wanted to do. He was able to marginalize you as all his predecessors did manage to control America by insisting on her unconditional support, and implying that any criticism of Israel is a form of anti-Semitism.

Fareed Zakaria said on Sunday, March 3, 2024, that Netanyahu has outsmarted and outmaneuvered you in his conduct of the war. Unfortunately this was not the only time. Netanyahu has marginalized you throughout the conflict. He did as he pleased in total contempt for your feelings. This sums up the story of your relationship with him. As a matter of fact, there is a firmly established tradition according to which Israel has always outsmarted America and controlled her by making her believe that, in the name of the holocaust, Israel is above criticism. The time has come to debunk this myth and free America from her abject subordination to a friendly but arrogant state.

It is not too late to expose the myth and reject it as a big lie. Nobody and no country are above criticism. That includes Israel and America. You had the decency of recognizing Israel's disproportionate and highly excessive response to October 7. But you failed to impose a solution to the Palestinian problem and marginalize Netanyahu. You can do that now and become a winner.

What would you say about an American who subordinates America's interests to those of a foreign country? So far, you have done so without realizing it. The least you can do now is correct that mistake.

Please discuss this problem with Mrs. Harris. Team up together and act forcefully. Do the right thing for a change. Declare that America is now ready to resolve the Palestinian problem by creating a Palestinian state that is sovereign and viable. Ask the Palestinian people to release all the hostages. Once this is done, order Israel to withdraw from Gaza. You have the power to do that. More importantly, you have the moral obligation to do that. Just do that and you will be remembered as a great President. An action of that kind will marginalize Trump who is under the influence of the Israeli Myth.

Sincerely yours,
